Fellow CSRC Members,

It is with great pleasure that I announce that the California Society for Respiratory Care has entered into a partnership agreement with Grand Canyon University. With this historic partnership the CSRC and GCU will be providing CSRC Members with an exciting opportunity to advance their education credentials.

Whether you are planning to update your Associate Degree to a Baccalaureate Degree or your Baccalaureate Degree to a Master's Degree or just broaden your personal knowledge, as an Active CSRC Member you are now entitled to request and receive a 10% tuition discount on courses at GCU. Grand Canyon University was founded in 1949 and is located in Phoenix, Arizona. Grand Canyon is fully accredited and offers extensive online programs for health care professionals looking to further their education. Your CSRC tuition discount at GCU will help make your dollars towards education go farther and will help you enrich your career.

The CSRC is committed to providing you (our membership) with tangible, value added services that make it possible for you to advance your knowledge base, skills and careers. Over the years we have done so through live meetings, educational events as well as through online courses. Now with this added member benefit we are working to help you advance your career at all levels.

Please take a few moments to review the offerings at Grand Canyon University through their link on our website, www.csrc.org. We are confident that you will find a wide variety of course offerings that will help you advance and achieve your personal career advancement goals. We welcome the opportunity to better serve you and help improve your career as a member of the California Society for Respiratory Care.

Sincerely,
